WASHINGTON NEWS.

What the Present Congress Expects to Accomplish.

Leading Opinions on the Isthmian Canal Projects.

Extent of Arizona Lawlessness—Remedies Proposed.

INTER-OCEANIC CANALS.

NEW YORK, February 8.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says: The prevailing sentiment among leading minds in both houses of congress in both parties on the question of inter-oceanic canals at this time is this: First, that what is needed is not a ship railway but a ship canal. Second, that the ship canal across the isthmus ought to be and must controlled by the government of the United States, so that in time of war they may be able to send its war ships and munitions of war through the canal and prevent its enemies from using the canal for hostile purposes toward the United States. Third, that in order to justly claim a right to exercise such control the government of the United States ought to own at least a controlling share of the property of the canal, and would be in the best situation if it owned the whole canal. Fourth, That the discussion raised by Blaine about the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was needless and untimely. That no European power will offer to disturb the United States if we actually build a canal, and that until we do questions raised by Blaine are of no consequence. Fifth, That we need not care whether European capital constructs one or half a dozen canals across the isthmus. What we need is a canal of our own under our own country, and which we can use exclusively for ourselves in case of war, throwing it open to the whole world for use of commerce, in which use by the whole world we are as highly field, as much interested as any other nation. Sixth, It is the general belief that a canal by way of Nicaragua is more favorably situated for our own uses at time of war, and for convenience of the world's commerce than a canal by any other route; that it can be more cheaply and quickly built than a canal by any other line, and that the charter now held by the American company from Nicaragua is abundant for our ends. Finally, it is probable that the present congress will adopt measures for immediate construction of the Nicaragua canal.

GUITEAU DEPRESSED.

Guiteau is becoming very much depressed. The jail warden says he no longer assumes confident air which he always had, except in the presence of newspaper people. He is to be cut off from all outside communication, and the fact depresses him very much.

A NEW STATE.

The house committee on territories in all probability will report favorably a bill for the admission of Washington Territory as a state. There are certain propositions made by Aldrich over which the committee is not agreed. There are also amendments which prohibit the sale of school lands, except for educational purposes; and to limit the power of the new state in the issue of bonds. Some opposition is made to this on the ground that congress has no right to interfere with the prerogatives of a state. The proposition, to admit the state, however, has been practically agreed upon.

APPORTIONMENT.

Indications very clearly point to the rejection of the apportionment bill in the house. Many republicans and most of the democrats oppose it. Page says it is founded on injustice and will be badly beaten. A substitute will be offered, fixing the membership at 321, and at the present figure 293. Democrats favor the latter. Many think 307 will be finally adopted.

CANNON'S CONTEST.

House committee on judiciary gave a hearing this morning to Cannon, who is contesting a seat in this congress, which was given to Campbell, upon the certificate of the governor of Utah. Cannon contended that discrimination against him had been made, merely and solely on account of his religion and church, and such discrimination is directly opposed to the spirit and letter of the constitution; that he was elected to a seat in the forty-seventh congress by an overwhelming majority of the votes cast, and is legally entitled to represent his constituents

Delegate Cannon writes a letter to a morning paper here, denying he had threatened to expose private escapades of members of congress, in order to show Mormon practices were no worse than those of society generally. He says he attends strictly to his own business. It is a fact, however, that congressmen have been somewhat worried over reports of what Cannon was going to publish.

ELECTION LAW.

The house committee on the law for the election of a president and vice president held a meeting today and decided to invite David Dudley Field to give his views upon the subject at a meeting to be held Saturday. It is believed the committee will report a bill to the house during the present session, providing for arbitrament of all disputed questions arising from the election of president and vice president by United States courts, with right to appeal to the United States supreme court.

A NICE PLACE.

The retirement of General Brown and promotion of Major Rochester as paymaster general, with the promotions in the pay department will leave a vacancy in the grade of major and paymaster, a very nice place, always much sought for. Applications for appointment to fill this vacancy are already pouring into the war department and the White House from all parts of the country.

CONGRESSIONAL BUSINESS.

From this time onward, it is the intention of republican leaders to push ahead the appropriation bills as rapidly as possible, with the view of procuring adjournment of congress in May. It now looks as if congress will do little business this session, besides passing the annual appropriation bills and five others, viz: the apportionment bill, the Chinese bill, the bill to extend national bank charters, and some measure reducing internal revenue tax.

LAWLESSNESS IN THE TERRITORIES.

WASHINGTON, February 8.—The president calls attention to the recommendation in his annual message that the posse comitatus act be amended so as to permit the use of military in assisting civil authority in territories to maintain order, and suggests again such legislation as seems to be required. In his communication Secretary Kirkwood states that in New Mexico and Arizona the difficulty in the way of repressing lawlessness arises from the fact that sheriffs are intimidated, or that from personal motives they desire to curry favor with the disorderly element of society. He therefore suggested whether it would not be expedient and proper that authority should be conferred by law on the governor of any territory to remove or suspend any sheriff for neglect of duty and appoint a person in his place.

In a letter dated the 19th of December, Acting Governor Gosper, of Arizona, urges a species of posse comitatus act as the best means of giving that territory relief from the reckless rule now existing the peace and liberty of otherwise favored portions of the territory.

In another letter he gives the cause of the lawlessness. Governor Gosper says: The people of Tombstone and of Cochise county, in their "mad career" after money, have grossly neglected local government until the more lazy and lawless element of society, have undertaken to foray on the more industrious and honorable classes for their subsistence and gain. Cowboys are not always white, some are Mexicans; but Americans direct and control the lawless element.

The acting governor estimates the whole number of cowboys, which term he says includes skilled cattle thieves and highway robbers in county Cochise where most of the trouble occurred, at 25 to 50. Other bands are scattered over the territory. Besides cowboys there is a class much larger in number of the "good lord" and "good devil" kind, who keep up secret friendship with robbers and profit by their lawlessness.

The committee on territories, of the senate has decided to act promptly. They will probably, within a few days, report a bill to modify the posse comitatus act so as to allow military to be employed to assist civil officers in the territories and border states in enforcing law and maintaining order. Indications are that democrats will oppose any modification of the posse comitatus act, and will take the position that civil officers should be increased where lawlessness prevails in a sufficient number to put it down. A leading democratic senator said tonight: The civil power is ample in all parts of the union, if properly directed, without aid; and he would oppose any law having for its object the use of soldiers, except for military proceedings.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Romero is expected to arrive next week from Mexico. The understanding is that he is to be merely a temporary representative of Mexico, and that Marescal will be eventually appointed to the position.

Ward Hunt has resigned from the supreme court.

A special meeting of the chamber of commerce will be held on Wednesday next, to meet Sir Henry Parkes, prime minister of Sydney, New South Wales, to hear an address by him on the present commercial relations existing between this country and Australia. Sir Henry arrived from San Francisco to-day.

Democrats will oppose the tariff commission bill as a subterfuge to perpetuate protection, They will try to unite the party on this issue There is a great deal of talk on this subject now.

The Crow Indians Restless.

ST. PAUL, February 8.—Dispatches have been sent by General Terry to Col. Hatch at Fort Custer, directing the removal from the Crow reservation of the men engaged in cutting railroad ties. The Crows are uneasy at the presence of these lawless fellows. A rebellion against them is threatened, as the Crows have many rich lands and mineral deposits. Efforts will be made in the spring to drive them out.

DeLong's Whereabouts.

NEW YORK, February 8.—The Herald's Paris special has the following dispatch from Lieutenant Danenhower, dated Irkutsk, February 4, which has just been received here: DeLong's party is between stations Bulcur Bolenol and Sisteroack Ustolionsk in a narrow wilderness eighty miles long, devoid of habitation and game.

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEEDINGS.

LONDON, February 8.—In a debate on the address in reply to the queen's speech in the house of commons this afternoon Northcote assailed the government policy. Gladstone, in an eloquent speech, vehemently attacked the land league, and highly eulogized the ministers' efforts to restore order.

The Marquis of Salisbury said Gladstone's utterances in 1880 and the recent conduct of the government in regard to Turkish affairs tended to separate England from Germany. He hoped the government would co-operate with the sultan, and with France so long as their lines of policy were favorable, but would reserve the liberty to diverge when their interest in the east prompted them to act differently. He deprecated the policy of neutralization. Referring to Ireland he declared that the unexampled state of affairs there would not have been allowed to exist in France or America six months. He considered the royal speech an exhortation to persevere in the course previously pursued. "Which is," he said, "to let anarchy have its way and offer sop to those whom we hope to conciliate because we are unable to conquer them." He concluded his speech with these words: "The country expects the government to meet this calamity, of which the doctrines they have preached have been the cause."

Granville, secretary of state for foreign affairs, replied that the present condition of Ireland compared favorably with that during last year, and quoted statistics to prove the truth of the statement. The government, he said, relied on the beneficial effect of the land act. He stated that the government's policy in Egypt was the maintenance of the rights of the khedive.

In the house of commons this afternoon, Justice McCarthy, in behalf of the Irish members, gave notice of a long amendment to the address, categorically condemning every point in the government Irish policy, and urging immediate return to constitutional methods.

Forster confirmed the statement that an explosive letter had reached Dublin Castle after his departure for London. If it had been opened, as the senders had desired, he would certainly have lost his hands and might have been killed.

LAND LEAGUE NOTES.

DUBLIN, February 8.—Six of the persons charged with the murder of Process Server Huddy and his nephew have been discharged, and the remaining eleven remanded.

The Land Leaguers announce the receipt of £2,515 since the previous meeting.

Secretary Forster received four hundred threatening letters during the last year.

H. Redmond, brother of the member of parliament for New Ross, has been arrested at Ballyragget, under the coercion act.

At Leeds, England, Tobin, a Fenian was found guilty and sentenced to 27 years penal servitude.

IRISH CONSPIRACY.

NEW YORK, February 8.—The Herald's Dublin correspondent says: The conspiracy I referred to recently extends to twenty-four counties, including three in Munster. It is a semi-Fenian and ribbon association, divided into county battalions, half battalions and district squads of twenty-five. Its head organizer is in Dublin. By this organization, nationalists and ribbon men are for the first time in the history of Irish conspiracies working in unity. An oath binds members to be faithful to the Irish republic and obey their superior officers in everything without question. The object is to deter persons from paying rent; to administer punishment to those who disobey its orders promulgated by placards or otherwise; and also, to enlist a large body of men who will be drilled.

The explosive letter sent to Mr. Forster contained a scruple and a half of iodide of nitrogen, which is a fearfully dangerous explosive, and very seldom used, being difficult to obtain.

College Notes.

The attendance at Professor Stone's evening geological class last Tuesday evening was about thirty-five. At the next meeting will be begun the consideration of the subject of rocks, and afterwards the geology of Colorado Springs. The gallantry of the member of this class who recently allowed two young ladies to ride his horse while he walked, is worthy of mention.

Judge J. B. Severy, financial secretary of the college, expects to begin soon a canvass for funds needed by Colorado College. It will be remembered that at a meeting held in the chapel last term, President Tenney stated that about four and a half or five thousand dollars would be needed to furnish the wings and relieve the president of a college debt for which he became responsible.

Mr. A. E. V. Strettell, whose death occurred a short time ago, left two or three hundred books for the college library.

Not many students have yet made known an intention to compete for the Strettell prize.

Football continues popular. Those playing have been divided into two parties which, nominally at least, fight under the lead of Pickett and Barnes.

Professor Loud will lecture to-day on mechanics. Professor Strieby's lectures continue.

Mr. Halleck taught the preparatory department part of last week, while Mr. Bacon was absent on business.

Mr. Tenney is improving, and is now able to walk somewhat.

The attendance at the last meeting of the Occidental club was small. A committee of five was appointed to report rules providing for misbehavior and non-performance of duty. The supposed necessity for such rules is certainly not at all creditable to the society. Nor is it likely that members can be compelled by law to act as if they were interested in the society's success. A section was adopted providing that hereafter the board of managers for the paper shall have authority to appoint the editors. Spurgeon has said, so have I heard, that the most effective committee is a committee of three with two members at home sick abed. This is worth the consideration of those who favor such an unwieldy board of managers as five will be. It is very strange, too, that the club should put in the hands of five members and beyond its own power the appointment of some of the most important positions in the society. The next question of debate will be capital punishment.

The following might do for a column called "Notes on Language:"

In Schiller's "Song of the Bell" is this passage: "And glorious, in the charms of youth, like an image out of heaven's height, with modest bashful cheeks sees he the young lady before him stand Then a nameless longing seizes the young man's heart, he wanders alone," etc. The last three words—"er irrt allein"—were translated "he makes a mistake." The professor, who is not a bachelor, looks up quickly and says, "O no, he didn't make a mistake."

Perhaps it was the same student who, translating "Errothend folgt er ihren spuren," said, "blushing in his own footsteps."

In Virgil's Æneid, I, 465, occurs "largoque humectat flumine vultum." The professor seemed to think "and irrigates his face with a large river" hardly practical enough.

The professor of mathematics found a grasshopper. "I've heard," said he, afterwards, "that one swallow will not make a summer. I wonder if one grasshopper would make a spring?" Such an unusual thing in his life as a pun deserves the immortality of print.

Wool Market.

Following are the current prices for wool in the Philadelphia market for February:

Markets have been fairly active but all grades have not been in demand. Fine and medium fleeces are firmly held at full quotations but have not been moving freely, the outside figures realized having been only for choice lots of light conditioned wools. Low and rough wools have met with better sale but at no change from the low prices heretofore ruling. Pulled wools are closely sold up. Best Philadelphia pullings have advanced in price especially on Merino grades, New Mexican wools have been quiet at quotations. The stock of these wools is less than is usual at this time of year and but little to come forward from the west. The general outlook seems to warrant a good trade for wool at little variation from present values. Foreign wool markets keep steady and seem but little affected by the French financial difficulties. The probable shipments of gold from this country cannot materially affect our present commercial prosperity and we do not see that our markets can now be seriously influenced by failures in Paris or by an increase in the rate of the Bank of England.

CONGRESSIONAL

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

Blair introduced an amendment to the constitution of the United States prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation and exportation of alcoholic liquors and other poisonous beverages, from and after the year 1900.

Call offered a resolution directing the secretary of state to institute negotiations for reciprocity with Central and South America.

The senate resumed the discussion of the pension arrears resolution. Blair favored a repeal of the law on the principle governing arrears.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Kasson, from the ways and means committee, reported the tariff commission bill. Referred to the committee of the whole. He will ask its consideration soon.

The apportionment bill was then considered. Mills submitted an amendment fixing the membership at 307.

After some debate the apportionment matter went over and the Sherman funding bill was reported by the ways and means committee.

Eulogies were pronounced on O'Connor of South Carolina and then adjourned

Mormon Missionaries.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., February 8. Mormon missionaries are hard at work in Union county, in East Tennessee, and have secured a number of converts, notably, some negroes. The community is very much worked up against them, and there are threats of lynching.

Milwaukee cigar makers who struck are making trouble with their successors, assaulting and threatening them.

CITY COUNCIL.

Report of Proceedings at the Regular Meeting.

Discussion of the Subjects of Sewerage and Irrigation.

Financial Statement List of Bills Allowed.

The adjourned regular monthly meeting of the council was held last evening with Mayor France in the chair and the following aldermen present: Wheeler, Hamebaugh, Brown, Walker, Giddings, Wilson and Johnson.

The report of John Pixley as justice of the peace was read and accepted

The monthly report of the treasurer, Wm. Stark, was then read, showing the financial condition of the city, January 31st, as follows:

Alderman Wilson moved that the salary of Mr. James, of Manitou, amounting to $50, be allowed and it was adopted.

It was moved that the contract with Mr. E. J. Eaton for his building for the use of J. M. Sigafus hose company be cancelled. Carried.

Alderman Wilson made a report from the committee on streets and ditches.

The following plats were submitted to the council and approved:

By the Rev. E. P. Tenney, for sub-division of block No. 215, addition No. 1.

By General H. G. Thomas for an addition to Colorado Springs.

By Messrs. Wolfe & White for sub-division to the city.

Alderman Walker stated that John Walker was about to dig a cellar and wished to sell the dirt to the city. Attention was drawn to the fact that dirt was needed to grade the streets in several places and Mr. Walker offered to sell it for the expense of hauling. The matter was finally referred to the mayor to arrange.

Alderman Walker suggested the following amendment to the fire ordinances:

Resolved, That section 1 of an ordinance to prohibit the erection of wooden buildings be amended as follows: Provided that wooden buildings when the said fire limits may be removed to some less valuable locality within the same, which, in the judgment of the council, the safety and security of the city will be improved and benefitted thereby.

The amendment aroused considerable discussion which was participated in by Aldermen Walker, Brown, and others. The roll was called and, as it lacked the necessary two-thirds vote in its favor, it was defeated.

IRRIGATION.

Alderman Wilson made some well considered remarks on the subject of irrigation, urging that the council take more careful means to secure the economical use of the irrigating facilities we now have. He spoke also of the need of more water to properly irrigate the city, and urges that our facilities be increased. He closed by calling for the reading of a part of a report made by E. S. Nettleton, who was the author of our irrigating system. The report was made February 23, 1872, to General W. J. Palmer, president of the Fountain Colony. The following is a part of the report which was signed by E. S. Nettleton and N. S. Davis:—

We beg leave to submit the following report in regard to increasing and utilizing the waters of the Fountain and Monument creeks, for the purpose of irrigating the lands of the Fountain colony:

1. By means of a dam to hold the water in a lake, situated near the head of the south branch of the Fountain, it is estimated that there can be held here twenty million cubic feet of water, at an expense not to exceed twenty-five hundred dollars. This water can be made tributary to the Fountain ditch at any time that it may be required, and is sufficient for a full irrigation of six hundred acres.

2. By means of a dam to make two reservoirs near the end of the Fountain ditch, with a capacity of three million, seven hundred thousand cubic feet of water, at an expense of seven hundred and fifty-four dollars. The object of these reservoirs is to reserve such water as would waste from the ditch during nights, Sundays, etc.

3. Extending the Fountain ditch a distance of two miles, at an expense of five hundred and seventy-two dollars. The object of this extension is that the water may be discharged into the above mentioned reservoirs.

Alderman Brown thought the matter worthy of careful consideration and asked the probable cost of a fresh survey with levels, etc.—Mayor France said that he had conversed with Mr. Ellis in regard to it and thought the cost of a new survey would be about $150. On motion of Alderman Brown Mr. Ellis was requested to make another survey and report to the council.

SEWERAGE.

Mayor France then brought up the subject of sewerage. He stated that he had requested Mr. W. F. Ellis, C. E., to look into the matter and make some suggestions. In response Mr. Ellis submitted to him a carefully written report which was read. The report began by alluding to the sanitary condition of the city and continued as follows:

FILTH DISPOSAL.

It is now conceded by the best sanitary engineers that the disposition of sewage by the ordinary leaching cess pool, in use here, is the worst which can be employed under any circumstances, in such a porous soil as underlies this city, for the contents spread out in all directions, poisoning the soil for the future far and near. The cess pool may be odorless and but partly full, and yet be more dangerous to health than one that makes itself a nuisance to the senses, the most dangerous forms of sewage gas being without odor, or in fact any distinguishable feature and cannot be detected until their presence is made known by disease

Privy vaults and the refuse from kitchen sinks poison all the surrounding earth and are but little less objectionable than the cess pool. Mr. James Boyles, of New York city, says: "I have lately visited a town in which this system is carried out par excellence. The town is built upon a limestone formation which is full of cracks and fissures, and to dispose of anything in the shape of waste it is only necessary to dig down twenty or thirty feet until the limestone is reached. Even privy vaults empty themselves. The town has a water supply drawn from sources not reached by the pollution of the soil, but within three years it has had two epidemics of typhoid fever, and is never free from sickness of unmistakable zymotic origin." Wherever we find the above disposition of human waste in a porous soil, we always find it accompanied by these diseases.

DENVER SEWERAGE.

I am informed by Mr. Kellogg, city engineer of Denver, through whose kindness I was enabled to examine their system of sewers that filth diseases were alarmingly frequent in the most populous parts of the city, up to this last fall, when their sewer system was perfected and the cess pool and privy vault nuisance done away with to a great extent; and it seems plain to me that the same conditions are found in Colorado Springs to-day that prevailed in Denver eighteen months ago, though perhaps to a less extent. One thing, however, we can be sure of, the longer the cause exists the more prevalent will be the diseases.

THE BEST SYSTEM.

It is well known that more water per head of population is used in towns having a public supply than where privates ones are relied on. This, of course, means more water to be disposed of, and if not properly done, more sickness in the former than the latter. Some writers even contend that no town or city should be allowed by law to introduce a system of water works that did not at the same time establish a system of sewers.

If a system of sewers be introduced in this city we, of course, want the best, provided it is practicable. That which seems to me the best is the one now in use at Denver, Memphis, Tennessee, and other places, called

THE SEPARATE SYSTEM.

This does not provide for the carrying off of surface or sub-soil water, but is kept strictly for the carrying of sewage. On this account much smaller pipes are admissable and the cost lessened by more than one hundred per cent. A nine-inch vitrified pipe should run through each alley from the south part of the town as far north as desired by the property holders, each alley pipe discharging into an eighteen-inch public sewer, running at right angles to the alleys. Each of the alley sewers should be provided with two entrance connections for every twenty-five feet; also have manholes placed every two hundred feet their entire length, for the purpose of examining and determining the exact location of any obstruction. At the end of each alley pipe should be a flush tank of about one hundred gallons capacity, discharging its contents automatically into the pipe once in every twenty-four hours, which will keep them free from obstruction, clean and sweet under ordinary conditions.

PUBLIC SEWER.

The eighteen-inch public sewer should discharge on to an irrigation farm or farms, having a total surface of seventy-five to one hundred acres, where the valuable matter can be utilized. This is being done at the present day in a great number of places with excellent results. It should be borne in mind that sewerage discharged into the open air and sunlight is a very different article from what it is when soaking fifteen to fifty feet under ground. In a test of the effluent water, made a short time ago, at an irrigation farm where the filter was seven feet deep and sewage at the rate of two hundred and fifty persons per acre was applied, it was found to be thirty times purer than the standard adopted by the commissioners. The sewerage of the town of Lenox, Massachusetts, (about five thousand inhabitants) is all discharged into about two miles of ordinary farm tile drains, laid twelve inches below the surface, and has worked satisfactorily for five years now. Either of the above methods are preferable to discharging into streams no larger than the ones in this vicinity.

COST.

The cost of a system such as proposed can only be given in round numbers until an accurate survey is made and many of the details decided upon. At Denver where larger pipes were used, deeper cuts necessary and the lots 25x125, the estimated cost was fifty dollars per lot, and it will probably be inside of that amount. At the same rate the cost per lot would be here about seventy-five dollars, lots 25x190, and I should think that it could be brought under seventy dollars per lot. In both cases the public sewer is paid for out of a general fund and the cost of the district sewers, assessed upon the property holders a certain amount for each twenty-five feet frontage without regard to improvements. If you should Alderman Walker says we are now feeding our tramps "on milk of the first water." Still they don't stay here long.

It is to be hoped that Major Ward and Colonel Dormer will not be treated as Mr. Nixon of the Chicago Inter Ocean was. It would be real sad to have them turn and fight Mr. Teller.

Some of the southern papers have commenced taking up Governor Pitkin for senator. But what if the genial governor declines to be a candidate?—[Chronicle.

And what if he don't decline to be a candidate?

This is the way it looks to the Cincinnati Commercial: "When they feel well Kentucky and Missouri can roll out a democratic majority of 180,000. They get about forty 'Grant medals celebrating their achievements for the republican party.'"

Every member of the council except Mr. Noble, who has been out of the state since June, was present at the meeting last evening. The meeting considered a great many subjects, and showed the council to be alive to the city's interests.

Last night at the council meeting, attention was called to the fact that the ordinance in regard to the stopping of trains on the Huerfano street crossing was not kept by the railroad. The best remedy will be some indiscriminate and frequent fining.

Judge Helm presides over the celebrated Stickney murder case. It is likely to be the most celebrated criminal case ever tried in the state. Judge Helm has had considerable experience lately in such cases and we are sure he will acquit himself creditably.

The remark of a member of the council last night that if you stand over our bricklayers, putting up chimneys with a club they will not completely embed the bricks in mortar has some truth in it. There is less conscience in putting up chimneys than in anything else of equal importance in building.

The Solid Muldoon declines to publish patent medicine advertisements and will have no dealing with advertising agents. This shows real dignity. The Muldoon occasionally publishes broad remarks, but very consistently refuses to publish the obscene patent medicine advertisements that go into so many professedly respectable papers.

The Gazette is of the opinion that Teller doctored the report of the speech which appeared in the Congressional Record. But the Gazette is prepared to believe anything of Teller.—[Republic.

Certainly we are of the opinion. Not to think so is to think that the Washington correspondents were all mistaken. It is absurd to take any other position. It is an habitual practice with some senators.

In endorsing Mr. Chaffee for a cabinet position, the little Pittsburg affair was not taken into consideration because it has never been fixed upon Mr. Chaffee, though he invited an investigation.—[Leadville Herald.

Our remembrance is that Mr. Chaffee did not wait for an investigation but went to Florida as soon as the bubble burst. If it were necessary, it would not be difficult to show Mr. Chaffee's complicity in the swindle. A good many interesting papers and letters were filed in the famous Coulter case.

Judge Webb, of Portland, declined a public dinner, tendered by one hundred lawyers, in a becoming way worthy of imitation. He says: "My tastes and my judgment are averse to its acceptance, and I most respectfully decline it. I can not forget the recent sad event that has made possible my promotion to the position to which I have been appointed, and I shrink from everything that may have the appearance of rejoicing under such circumstances. Moreover, with all the partiality my professional brethren have manifested toward me, it becomes me to remember that I approach duties and responsibilities in which I am yet untried, and to enter upon them quietly and simply."

The distribution of the 300 medals has some striking features which should not be overlooked. Colorado is the only republican state that will receive medals for her entire delegation. The majority for the Garfield electors was 2803. In this respect Colorado is ahead of all other republican states. The medals will principally go to southern democratic states. The following states were practically solid for Grant and gave the following pluralities for Hancock:

Grant States	Hancock's Maj
Alabama,	34,064
Arkansas,	18,329
Georgia,	48,381
Kentucky,	42,762
Mississippi,	10,806
Missouri,	55,042
Tennessee,	21,892
Texas,	103,230
Virginia,	44,560

A few will be distributed among the republican states. New England with over 100,000 majority for Garfield will get one medal. Texas with about the same Hancock majority received, gets 16. Still some republicans will feel proud of these medals.

SEWERAGE.

The council last night briefly considered the subject of sewerage. A very able and sensible report was submitted by Mr. Ellis and should be carefully read and considered. The plan he suggests has the approbation of scientific men universally and its wisdom and utility has been amply vindicated by experience. The matter is in shape now so that it will be quickly and properly investigated. Correspondence by outside parties has already been begun with Colonel George Waring, the ablest specialist in this country on the question of sewerage. It is hoped that the committee to which the matter is referred will be able to make some definite report at the next meeting giving close estimates of cost, &c.

We presume there is little question about the necessity of a good system of drainage. It has been rendered all the more necessary by our water works. It is not a question of convenience and beauty but of health and even life. Denver waited until she enjoyed the reputation of being the most unhealthy city in the state before she did anything. We should not wait for this. A good part of our capital is the healthfulness of our climate and we cannot afford at any price to lose our high reputation.

The only question which will cause any hesitation is the cost. Regarding the cost nothing is definitely known but it need not be burdensome. It is suggested that the drain pipes down the alleys be paid for by the property holders on either side. This will not be a heavy expense. The cost in Denver is $50 for a twenty five feet lot. This is about two dollars a foot. Mr. Ellis says the cost will be less here though his report makes the cost greater. Probably he means $75 for a lot 50x100 or about $150 a foot. This would not be very burdensome to individual property holders and the advantage would be far greater than the expense.

The public sewer and many other expenses will be paid out of the general fund. It is probable that this expenditure will not be large, however. We presume there is no city in the country which would be so easy and inexpensive to drain as this. The grade is easy and there will be no deep cuts or circuitous paths for the pipes to run. We hope the work will be promptly begun and that another summer will not pass without our having sewerage.

Vicomte de Brimont, who was principal partner in the great champagne house of Ruinart pere et fils, bequeathed $100,000 to an orphan child adopted by him from the Foundling hospital, London. The rest of his fortune he left to children of his brother, one of whom has now begun a fight for the orphan's legacy.

The Baroness Alphonse de Rothschild paid a pretty compliment to a prima donna the other day. She invited the young lady to dine with her and after dinner asked her to try the tone of her piano. Not a sound came from the keys when touched. "I had the instrument unstrung this morning, mademoiselle," said the baroness, "that you might see that the only pleasure I promised myself from your presence this evening was the pleasure of your society."

—Cardinal Howard who has recently been raised by Pope Leo XIII to the dignity of arch priest of the basilica of St. Peter's at Rome, and who is remembered in London as leading, 30 years ago when an officer in the Life Guards, the procession at the funeral of the Duke of Wellington, is the second Englishman on the roll of the arch priests of the basilica of St. Peter's. The other cardinal arch priest of the basilica was Henry Cardinal York, the brother of the Young Pretender.

The number of peers of France now living is 23 namely: Three dukes, Messrs. de Caylus, de Valencay, and Noailles; the Prince de Wagram; five marquises, Messrs. de Gouvion Saint-Cyr, de Malleville, d'Andigne de Rougemont and d'Harcourt; nine counts, Messrs. de Bondy, du Cholet, d'Abzac, de Daru, de Greffuhle, Mathieu de la Redorte, Schramm, Germain, de Gramont, d'Aster; two viscounts, Messrs. Digeon and Duchatel; the Baron de Barante; Mgr. Juge, and Monsieur le Comte Victor Hugo.

An accomplished man of the world in New York writes to a friend in Springfield, Mass.: "Oscar Wilde is not such a fool as he looks—for he certainly does look like a fool. I've met him two or three times and I don't think I care to meet him again. His few friends here who knew him at home seem to believe in him but there are a good many who knew him at home who do not believe in him at all. His lectures were read in the style of Irving whom he has evidently made his model and whom he suggests in face and figure. (The picture of Irving in the February Harper's goes to confirm this, which has never been said before.) His description of the school of design of the 14th and 15th centuries, which I have not seen reported in the papers, was as fine in its way as anything I have ever heard. Of course there is something wrong about the man or he would not dress as he does. I've less patience with him since I've discovered that he is really clever."

STRIKING A LIGHT.

How it Was Done Before the Days of Friction Matches.

Providence Star.

People who light their pipes, cigars or lamps, or kindle their fires by the instantaneous ignition of friction matches, have, unless they are old people, very little conception of the labor and tribulation attendant upon the same process 50 years ago. Every well regulated family, at that time, was provided with a tin box of tinder produced by the combustion of rags and a flint and steel and matches which had been dipped into brimstone. When fire was wanted the flint and steel and tinder was produced, and the tinder being ignited by sparks precipitated from the steel by means of the flint, a match was touched to the burning mass, and being lighted was applied to some prepared kindlings, and a fire thus produced, the whole process occupying from five to fifteen minutes, according to the skill or luck of the operator. This was attended with so much labor, and productive, at times, of the use of so many naughty words on the part of the person operating that fires were generally kept all night. This was done—there were few stoves and hard coal had not come into very general use then—by covering the huge and blazing back log in the fireplace with ashes, and in the morning there was generally found in its place a bed of live coals which by the application of fresh wood and with the aid of the then universal bellows, usually produced a blazing fire in from 15 minutes to a half an hour. Sometimes, however, from some cause the back log would be wholly consumed leaving nothing but a bed of ashes. In this case, particularly if there was an absence of dry kindling in the house some member of the family must take the shovel, and oftentimes through snow, knee-deep, trudge to the nearest neighbor's, "after fire." And sometimes indeed, the nearest neighbor's fire would be out, too, in which case the walk had to be extended till the fire was procured. The live coals were borne home upon the shovel often carefully guarded with the hand, to prevent blowing off, placed between two brands, the bellows set vigorously at work, and the fire thus set a blazing. In lighting a candle, a live coal was taken up with a pair of tongs and blown upon with the mouth until a blaze was produced. Pipes were lighted by placing a live coal on top of the tobacco and cigars by holding the burning coal to the end and puffing with all one's might.

The first improvement on this in New England was the substitution of a bottle of phosphorus, into which the end being removed a brimstone match was thrust and being thus ignited the bottle was quickly closed in order to retain the strength of the liquid. This was such an emancipation from the thraldom of the tinder box and flint and steel and the other inconveniences of the method, that people rejoiced greatly, and believed the ne plus ultra in this direction had been reached, and every well regulated family was provided with its bottle of phosphorus, while the flint and steel and tinder-box were laid aside to be used only in case of emergency. This invention was known by the name of "loco foco matches."

Directly however there was another invention, that left the phosporus bottle as much in the shade, as the other had the flint and steel. This was the application of a preparation of phosporous and brimstone to the tips of matches, which only required to be drawn between the folded leaves of a piece of sand paper to produce a light, so that the smoker had only to carry his folded sand paper in one pocket and his matches in the other to light his pipe at any moment. The latter were known as "Lucifer matches," as partaking, it is presumed, of the character of the scriptural "son of the morning." But the spirit of invention was not satisfied to stop here, and the result was, the present world used friction matches, that alike serve all people and the making of which, at the present time, in all probability consumes almost as much wood as there was burned by the whole United States for all the purposes of warming and cooking a century ago.

DAILY GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1882

[illegible] to go into the subject further I shall be pleased to furnish plans and estimates for the same.

Dr. [illegible] was present at the meeting and Mayor [illegible] asked him for an expression of his views on the sewerage question. He spoke briefly in favor of sewerage and commending the report that had just been read as sensible and wise. He stated that he had written to Colonel George Waring on the subject and expected an answer soon.

Alderman Brown called attention to the need of a city engineer and the city attorney was requested to draw up an ordinance creating the office.

Attention was drawn to the fact that there was an overdraft of $17 01 in the fire department fund and of $4 17 in the miscellaneous fund and hence there were no funds to pay the bills allowed in these two departments last evening. Alderman Brown moved that balance of [illegible] amounting to $139 67 be turned into the fire department fund and that the balance of the amount received from licenses amounting to $107 40 be turned into the miscellaneous fund. Carried.

Alderman Wheeler spoke of apparent discrepancies in our ordinances in regard to the thickness of walls in veneered wooden buildings and brick buildings. He also spoke of the need of amending the ordinances in regard to the building of chimneys.

Mayor France thought that the ordinance which required that chimneys be four inches in thickness, that the brick or stone be completely imbedded in lime mortar, and that the chimneys be plastered on the inside with a smooth coat of mortar was sufficient.

Alderman Walker said that the ordinance did not do any good because you might stand over our brick layers with a club and they would not lay brick completely in mortar.

Alderman Walker called up the question of a salary for the city physician. He said that nothing had been paid him for his services this year, that last year under the other administration when Mayor Bacon was off on his foreign tour the city physician presented a bill for "smelling around," which was only in part allowed. He thought that some regular salary should be paid. He said the city physician would not present an itemized account of his services and though so modest, he ought to have some remuneration all the same. The mayor stated that the physician had rendered frequent and valuable services. The matter was finally referred to the mayor to suggest a proper salary.

Attention was called to the fact that work should be begun soon on the ditches, and that there was a fund of over $2,000 for this purpose. After considerable discussion the mayor and committee on streets and [illegible] were given full power to do what in their discretion seemed best.

Alderman Walker asked if proper attention was being given to the suit in regard to the city's use of the Fountain water for irrigation. The mayor said he would investigate to-day.

The mayor said that a child died at the Half Orphan asylum last week, and that he had selected a lot for her burial. He suggested that five lots be donated to this charity, as it had now become a very useful one. On motion of Alderman Wilson, the suggestion was entertained.

The mayor requested the finance committee to prepare the annual appropriation ordinance, and added Alderman Brown to the committee in place of Alderman Noble, who is out of the city.

Alderman Walker called up the matter of putting up a public building for a lock up and the use of the fire department. This aroused considerable discussion. Alderman Brown moved that a premium of $50 be given the architect who should draw the best plan and that if the plan was accepted, the architect should be made constructing architect. This was voted down. He then moved that the chairman of the fire department, Mr Walker, be authorized to ask for plans and specifications from our architects without expense to the city. This was adopted.

The council then adjourned.

Assay Commission

PHILADELPHIA, February 8.—The annual session of the assay commission appointed by the president opened this morning. Members of the commission who were present were, Judge Butler, Senator Allison, General Rosecrans, Representatives Fisher and Belford, G. W. Childs, Professor Charles E. Munroe, of the Naval academy, Professor J. E. Hilgard, of the United States coast survey, D. L. Player, assayer, and Eckfeldt, clerk of the mint. The commission was organized by electing Judge Butler chairman and Eckfeldt secretary, and was then divided by the chairman into two committees, a committee on assay and a weighing committee. General Rosecrans was appointed chairman of the assay committee, and Professor Hilgard of the weighing committee. Committees were appointed to test the fineness and weight of the products of the United States mints for 1881, and the result of their labors will be probably a full report, which will be looked for to-morrow.

Ryan's Misfortunes

NEW YORK, February 8.—A Herald New Orleans special says after the battle a doctor examined Ryan, and found his left jaw broken in two places, besides several other serious injuries. To add to the poor fellow's misfortunes, while he was fighting, some rascal entered his room at the house he put up at, and robbed him of $[illegible] in money, thus misfortunes seem to pursue him even to the bitter end. W. [illegible], backer of Sullivan, intends to challenge the world with him for any amount of money, and will probably take him to Europe should he not find a customer in America. Harry Hill will pay over the stakes held by him this day at his place of business in New York.

Strike in Chicago

CHICAGO, February 8.—One hundred and fifty blast furnace workers in the Union Iron and Steel company's works have struck for an advance of fifteen to twenty per cent. in wages. The company has stubbornly refused to compromise.

OMAHA & DENVER SHORT LINE.

Its Convenience to Colorado Business Men

Commencing Sunday, November 6, 1881, the Union Pacific company will run a fast Omaha express through between Denver and Omaha daily, over the recently constructed Julesburg cut-off.

Leaving Denver (breakfast)	8 00 a m
Arrive at Sterling (dinner)	1 30 p m
Arrive at North Platte	7 30 p m
Arrive at Omaha	7 30 a. m
Arrive at Council Bluffs (breakfast)	8 00 a m
Arrive at Chicago (Chicago time)	6 30 a m

Time, Denver to Omaha, twenty three and one-half hours, time, Denver to Chicago, forty-six hours.

This new route is 150 miles shorter than any rival, six hours the quickest to Omaha, seven to fifteen hours the quickest to Chicago, St Louis and all points east, and it runs the finest trains ever built, constructed by the Pullman company expressly for this line. They embody every feature of safety, convenience and luxury yet attained in railway equipment. It is the only through line possessing a water grade across the plains (averaging less than ten feet to the mile). It is the most picturesque route, has the best dining stations, the heaviest steel rails, best iron bridges and most careful ballasting.

Passengers from Leadville, Gunnison, San Juan and all points in southern Colorado make close connection in the Union depot, Denver, and arrive in Chicago and all eastern cities soon to have a full day for business on the day of arrival, practically saving from twelve to twenty four hours, and avoiding all night changes.

Meantime the old Kansas Pacific route, now Kansas division Union Pacific railway, to Kansas City and all points east and southeast, and the Pioneer Union Pacific route from Denver, via Cheyenne, to Omaha and the east and northeast, maintain their usual standard of excellence. Tickets via Cheyenne are good over the new route, or vice versa. 1-28-tf

Manager of the Gazette.
ABE ROBERTS,
Proprietor of Mountaineer.

The city council met last night.

Mrs. Freling returned to the city on yesterday.

Fifteen men are at work on [illegible]'s new stable.

B. A. P. Eaton's new house is nearly ready for occupancy.

Mr. T. E. Hopkins returned yesterday evening from Pueblo.

Mr. C. W. Church, the druggist, is removing his stock to the new location.

Work on the addition to Giddings & Stillman's store is progressing rapidly.

An unusual number of drunken men were seen on the streets last night.

Mr. J. W. Fairfield came down from Leadville yesterday to pay his family a short visit.

Mrs. John Potter left yesterday on a visit to friends in Ohio. She will remain several months.

Miss Jessie Aiken returned yesterday from Chicago, where she has been quite a while visiting friends.

Mr. Fred Ege is having constructed a handsome addition to his residence in the southern portion of the city.

The races mentioned in the GAZETTE last week will probably occur in about a week at the Pike's Peak driving park.

Our real estate men report a very active business in their line, and everything indicates a busy season with builders.

The ice men on the Divide experience some difficulty just now in filling their contracts, owing to the warm weather of the past week.

Mr. W. W. Roller, formerly of this city, but now one of Salida's solid business men, is in the city visiting his old friends.

Mrs. Wood, who has been in the city with her son, Stanley Wood, visiting friends, left on last evening's train for Denver.

A very large crowd of men and boys congregated on Tejon street yesterday, and indulged in athletic sports for pastime.

The box-sheet for the Alice Oates engagement was opened yesterday morning, and seats are being secured very rapidly.

The new residence of Colonel McLeod on south Weber street, stands the most prominent building in the neighborhood.

Mr. W. F. Hunt, musical composer of "Brittle Silver," has decided to remain in the city a short time to conduct his business here.

We learn that Mr. D. J. Kelly, the "Keno Bill" of "Brittle Silver," has left that company and become a member of the Alice Oates party.

The "Brittle Silver" party left yesterday for Denver. Mr. Wood informs us that they will make a tour of the northern part of the state.

We have received the first number of the Daily Herald, published at Silver Cliff. It is a newsy little evening paper, and Will C. Ferril is its editor.

Mr. Charles H. Fenn, lately connected with the Denver and Rio Grande railway in this city, left yesterday for Brooklyn, New York, where he will go into business.

Mrs. C. H. Marsh left on yesterday morning for the home of her parents in Kansas, in response to a call to attend the bedside of her mother, who is seriously ill.

Mr. Will Kohnle, the inimitable "Professor" in "Brittle Silver" left yesterday for Denver. He will soon become a member of the Alice Oates comic opera company.

The regular weekly meeting of Pike's Peak Lodge No. 38 I. O. O. F. will be held this evening at their rooms. Members and visiting brothers are earnestly requested to be present.

Mr. Sullivan, the bill poster, has secured a very desirable site to display his ability—as well as the posters of different theatrical troupes—on the corner of Huerfano street and Cascade avenue.

Messrs. Stevens & Rouse have ordered a large horse power hay cutter for their livery stable. They have also a number of handsome carriages on the road, which they have procured for the use of their patrons.

Yesterday a little child of Mr. Moses Gray, who resides at the corner of Tejon and Willamette streets, was run over and seriously injured by some person unknown. When found the child was insensible, and upon examination it was found she had sustained internal and external injuries of a very serious character. The little creature was only sixteen months old and was hurt during the absence of its parents. Dr. E. C. Kimball was immediately summoned and rendered all the aid possible.

Matt France hose company No. 1 meet at their room on Friday night. Of late the attendance at their meetings has been very small. It is earnestly desired that every member be present at this meeting as business of importance will be transacted.

From the Las Vegas Optic we hear that Colonel W. T. DeForrest and William A. Tillinghast, of this city, have arrived at that place.
